

Finally, some daylight at the end of the deep state tunnel. Wrote this a couple of years ago to explain to the organizers of the local "Honor Flight" why I objected to including the Holocaust Museum on the itinerary. (Another note: I noticed the "World War 2" museum was funded by... Raytheon. What does that tell ya?)

Dear Folks

This is not to justify, but to explain. There is no justification to be antagonistic to people of good will. My perception of hypocrisy in the Museum was too much for me, I sort of knew what I was going to encounter before entering, but I was curious. I should have remained on the bus.

In 2012, I was in Lugansk (Donbass, Ukraine). I had gone to a food kiosk by the main bus terminal, 2-3 times, but the proprietor (from Uzbekistan) refused to serve me French fries. One day I got irked and implied he was prejudiced against me, being an American. Then another Muslim standing by me explained (in perfect American English - he was an Iraqi medical student) that the owner usually runs out of potatoes by this time of day, so he could not make me fries. Me smile and humbly apologize... :)

Fast forward to 2014. Maidan. The US "Deep State" under Barack Obama. led by the State Department's Victoria Nuland, engineers the violent overthrow of the legitimately-elected government of Ukraine. The first act of the newly US-installed President of Ukraine is to ban the Russian language and cancel the Russian culture. In reaction, Crimea and Donbass (including Lugansk), declare their independence from this new oppressive regime, which would make it illegal to speak their native language). After a visit by VP Joe Biden, Ukraine launches an invasion of secessionist Donbass.

I see a YouTube video of my food kiosk, it is now rubble, as is the nearby main bus station, bombed by the Ukrainian Air Force. I watch videos of Ukrainian jets bombing downtown Lugansk, hitting apartment buildings, businesses, churches, even an orphanage (the manager was rightfully hysterical). The videos are up close and personal, quite bloody.

I give some money to my Lugansk scammer friend so she can flee to Kiev (where she rapidly becomes rabidly anti-Russian). I went along with her scams as she has two little boys. Scamming is a way of life in Ukraine. The big scammers scam the little scammers. My personal experience in Ukraine is that trying to run a business is impossible for any would-be investor. In the previous year I ran a small business in Russia, we were teaching English and outsourcing (development of websites). There were no bureaucratic payoffs necessary. My employees were highly intelligent and never took a sick day. One time Yulia, Office Manager, arrived 30 minutes late and stayed after closing. I said "it's not necessary to stay," and she started crying. I wondered what Russian custom I had violated, and she said, "It's your birthday and we bought you a cake." Irina drank the whole bottle of wine by herself. I gave Yulia her first job after college graduation, and am proud to say she is now the personal assistant to the director of a national chain of Russian restaurants.

In 2015, the kiosk video, its destruction, disappears from Youtube. I note that the most-frequent visitors to the Obama White House are Google/Youtube executives. They are colluding in managing "the news." That is, "shaping the public perception."

ALL of the Google/YouTube videos showing wartime atrocities and bombing of civilians, by Ukraine, disappear in 2015-16.

Included is also a very powerful video of a young Ukrainian lass standing in front of a line of tanks dispatched from Kiev, about to enter Donbass and start a civil war. She pleads with them, and there's a group of local residents also calmly discussing things with the tank crews. "We are all Ukrainians, what are you doing?" "Why are you attacking us? etc. Finally the lead tank begins nudging her, she loses her nerve and steps out of the way. Likewise a video of Ukrainian soldiers sitting in a foxhole, taking a smoke break, philosophizing, "WTF are we here for? We are killing our own people..."

All thrown in the cyber-dumpster by Google/Youtube.

Russia, in 2014, provides anti-aircraft missiles to Donbass to bring a halt to the aerial bombing of Donbass. The Minsk Accords are signed to bring peace and an autonomy agreement for the Donass, but Ukraine ignores the pact, instead starts artillery shelling of Donbass, with 16,000 casualties (ethnic Russian civilians) over the next year, but the OESC stops counting in 2016. Western leaders who sign the Minsk Accords later all admit they signed under false pretences - they claim they were only interested in buying time, arming Ukraine, not seeking peace. To corrupt the diplomatic process by being dishonest is now a good thing?

Today, Google/Youtube manipulation of the "news" is pernicious and systemic. I visited Simferopol ("Sim-fer-OPAL") in Crimea several times from 2006-2010 and I was interested in reading some local news. Try Google-searching for a newspaper in Crimea. No matter how it is phrased, the search results point only to anti-Russian newspapers published in the West. I have to go to Yandex to find an actual local Crimean news outlet. Search engine algorithms and social media create disharmony by representing a false reality.

So what does this have to do with the Holocaust Museum?

1. False Data: The Holocaust website "Fact Sheet" claims that thousands of "Ukrainian" "civilians" have been killed. However, 99% of the civilian casualties have been in Eastern Ukraine and are ethnic Russians. The HM does not document any of their accusations of "atrocities." Contrarily, there are, daily, documented (video, witnesses) attacks on Russian civilians by Ukrainian (with NATO_supplied weapons) artillery fire, available online in the non-Western media. As I write this, today Ukraine has done massive shelling of the Belgorod region. RT.com has video of the shelled targets - apartment buildings. While Russia targets only military facilities, Ukraine, with their NATO weapons, targets, every day now, villages and civilians on the Russian borders. Yesterday was a poultry farm, today was an apartment block.

Especially onerous is the censorship of the May 2, 2014 Odessa massacre when 50-100, (Wikipedia has a low estimate and more false data) mostly elderly, pro-Russian protesters were herded into an apartment building, the doors locked, and all the protesters burned to death. Escapees who survived by jumping from windows were beaten to death by the anti-Russian mob. Ukrainian government blamed it on "exploding air-conditioners." Likewise was no investigation ever begun into who actually killed 50-100 protesters at Maidan, the lynchpin and/justification for the Maidan coup.

HM claims: "Russian forces' crimes against Ukrainian civilians include executions, attacks on hospitals, the use of cluster munitions and thermobaric weapons in residential areas, attacks on humanitarian corridors, sexual violence, torture, and the forcible deportation of Ukrainians to Russia. Russian forces have laid siege to a number of Ukrainian cities, cutting civilians off from basic necessities. The discovery of mass graves, including the bodies of women, children, and the elderly, in and around the city of Bucha provides further evidence of mass atrocity crimes by Russian forces."

But the HM does not document a single claim.

Reality: Documented evidence of Ukrainian torture and execution of ethnic Russia civilians. The attack on the hospital in Mariupol was an attack by Russia on Ukrainian troop placements. Western media superimposed the image of a "nurse" in front of the building. Ukrainians, OTOH, bombed a prisoner-of-war camp in Russia, killing 100+ Ukrainian prisoners. Ukraine is begging for cluster munitions, they are banned by Russia. The recent Richter-scale explosion of the depleted uranium shell stockpile (supplied by the UK) in Ukraine led to a huge uptick in the radioactivity levels in eastern and central Europe, the monitoring website went down for a few days and has now been "sanitized." Ukraine has seeded a million child-maiming and livestock-killing "petal mines" (disguised as toys) throughout Donbass. Ukraine has shelled humanitarian corridors, committed sexual violence and torture throughout Donbass, and forcibly routed Ukrainians who wish to depart to Russia, to instead enlist in the Ukrainian army or go to the West. The number of orphans and children kidnapped by self-styled "charitable" organizations in Ukraine from their parents in Donbass, is countless and any effort to unite mother in Russia with child in Ukraine is rejected by Kiev. Ukraine cut off Crimea, in 2014, from the supply of electricity and water, on the edge of Winter. The Kerch Bridge was built to address such shortages, which Ukrainian terrorists attempted to destroy.

In Bucha, the Ukrainian mayor and officials of this town of 20,000 did not notice scores of corpses laying non-randomly around in the main streets of the city until 3 days after they had arrived in the city. What?

There is no time to address even a tiny fraction of all the false data posted on the HM website. HM is wholly dishonest in their depiction of what is going on in contemporary Ukraine and Russia.

2. Purpose

What is the purpose of the Holocaust Museum? To prevent any future such "holocaust." Such genocide can occur when a certain group of people are delegitimized, or treated as sub-human. HM advises to be aware of such dehumanization, as it is the first indication of the danger of another approaching holocaust.

But the HM hypocrisy here can be seen in their denial of the reality of the ongoing, media-fueled Western dehumanization of Russia and Russians. Throughout Eastern Europe, Russians are treated as sub-humans. In the Baltic countries, ethnic Russians, even those who have lived there their entire lives, are denied basic Human Rights, such as the right to vote, the right to own a business, to run for election. When I watched TV, I noticed that Russians were depicted mostly as criminals. Russian truck drivers are harassed and attacked in Poland. Ethnic Russians in the Baltic countries are arrested for placing flowers on the graves of Russian soldiers who liberated these countries from the Nazi's. It is a crime to speak Russian in Ukraine, the Mayor of Kharkov has been fined twice, and will face prison for a 3rd offense. In Ukraine, the Nazi Stefan Bandera, responsible for a small genocide of his own against Poles, is glorified, while Russians are depicted as "moskals" (monsters) in children's schoolbooks.

HM is silent here. There is no "confront" of this dehumanization. Their purpose seems more political than constructive.

At least the HM museum has uncovered a kernel of truth in their essay/question of why the US did not destroy the Nazi Concentration camps during WW2. When one drills down, it seems it was the failure of the media to report accurately on these atrocities which caused the American nation to be unconcerned. Hello, media? Things have not changed. The Ukraine conflict would be history in a NY minute if the American people, a great people, were aware of what is really going on, the origin and the context of the conflict.

I hope you can understand where I am coming from. The hypocrisy at the HM was just too much for me. I knew it would be and I should have stayed on the bus!

In my church we have the "3rd party law." It says "A third party must be present and unknown in every quarrel for a conflict to occur." For example, a meddling in-law with a happily-married couple, can create disharmony. This principle can be applied to countries as well. While the West claims it is not involved in the Ukrainian conflict, the reality is it is and has been, since 2014. The 3rd Party. Russians and Ukrainians have been intermingled, integrated and intermarried for generations, now they have been driven apart. Who caused this?

Nobody wants to see peace more than me - I have Russian and Ukrainian friends from Crimea (Russian man married to Ukrainian woman) to Siberia (an ex-employee who left the big city, raises goats and gives horse-driven sleigh rides for the grandchildren at Christmas). This conflict will not end until the 3rd party driving it is identified and takes responsibility for its actions.

On a more basic level, the media and social media is the 3rd party bad guy in this conflict - by preventing the dissemination of reality and distorting reality, Big tech blocks understanding. Without understanding by both sides there can be no affinity, no resolution nor agreement, and no peace.

On a deeper level, there is the Deep State and covert intelligence agencies, as 3rd parties, colluding to manage the media message and continually create conflict, whether domestically or internationally, as a means of maintaining control.

There is a Russian lady at my church in KC, she is constantly telling me, "Jimmy, don't watch the news! It just enturbulates you!" So it is. The "news" enturbulates entire countries...

I am looking forward to what I call "The New Paradigm" a planet-wide civilization based on understanding, not violence. The tools for instant global communication are here, but are temporarily controlled and misused by the Deep State and a few, insanely-rich people. Once we are able to use these tools freely, to communicate, without preconception, misrepresentation or 3rd party distortion, with one another on a personal, group and international level, understanding and affinity will grow, humanity will evolve. Just around the corner is a new golden age, a spiritual awakening, a renaissance of the Human Race. This could happen very soon. Big changes are coming...

Best regards
